Assemblymember Jacqui V. Irwin
Jacqui Irwin was first elected in 2014 to represent California’s 44th Assembly District, which includes cities in Ventura and Los Angeles Counties, after a decade on the Thousand Oaks City Council. In her first term in the Assembly, Irwin successfully authored numerous pieces of legislation into law and brought vital state funds back to her community. Her leadership as the Chair of the Assembly Select Committee on Cybersecurity increased the cybersecurity of state agencies through mandating security assessments and increased standards.

Assemblymember Irwin currently chairs the Veterans Affairs Committee and is a member of numerous committees. Those relevant to our discussion today are the Budget Committee and the Privacy & Consumer Protection Committee.

Prior to her public service, Irwin was an employee of Teledyne Systems. She also worked as an engineer at Johns Hopkins University Applied Physics Lab. Assemblymember Irwin holds a Bachelor of Science in Systems Engineering from UC San Diego.

Margaret Gladstein
Margaret Gladstein is a partner with Capitol Advocacy, a Sacramento government relations company. Margaret is recognized as one of Sacramento’s premier lobbyists on privacy and data security issues for clients in the retail, technology, financial services, and other industries. In addition, she handles a wide array of other policy areas.

Prior to joining Capitol Advocacy, Margaret served as the chief consultant of the California State Assembly Banking and Finance Committee, where she developed and analyzed legislation related to financial services, privacy, data security, and corporate governance. She was also previously vice president at The Money Store, formerly the nation’s largest direct home equity lender. Margaret has also served as a campaign consultant for statewide initiatives and legislative candidates throughout the West. During this time, Margaret was recognized as a “Rising Star” and won several Pollie Awards from the American Association of Political Consultants for her work on campaigns.
A native of McAlester, Okla., Margaret graduated with honors from the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania. She lives in Sacramento with her husband Tim and daughter Michelle.

John Marinho
John Marinho is vice president, technology & cybersecurity for CTIA. He joined CTIA as its vice president of technology and cybersecurity in March 2012. His key responsibilities are leading CTIA’s efforts to help the wireless industry secure its networks and devices against cybersecurity threats, educating policymakers on emerging technologies, and advocating for sensible and practical regulations. He also serves as CTIA’s primary liaison with government agencies on cybersecurity issues. Marinho holds the Bell Labs President’s Award for Innovation and was awarded several Bell Labs patents, and is the retired Chairman of the TIA TR45 Standards Committee. He is the recipient of the CTIA and TIA Industry Service Award.

Jeffrey Zubricki
Jeffrey Zubricki is a Director with Walmart’s Global Public Policy team, where he coordinates Walmart’s global eCommerce, privacy, and data security public policy. Jeff is also responsible for developing Walmart’s future focused Public Policy Lab which serves as a convening platform for executives and influential thinkers to help anticipate and shape future public policy facing retail, business and society on emerging issues like automation and the future of work, artificial intelligence, and the gig economy. Prior to joining Walmart, Jeffrey spent six years as a professional staffer for Chairman John D. Rockefeller IV (D-W.V.) on the United States Senate Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation. While at the Committee, he worked on issues related to consumer protection, privacy, and technology policy. Jeffrey started his career as an accountant with KPMG LLP, is a native of Chicago, and a graduate of Indiana University.